Strategic Order Flow Trading

Module 8 Coming Full Circle

Disclaimer

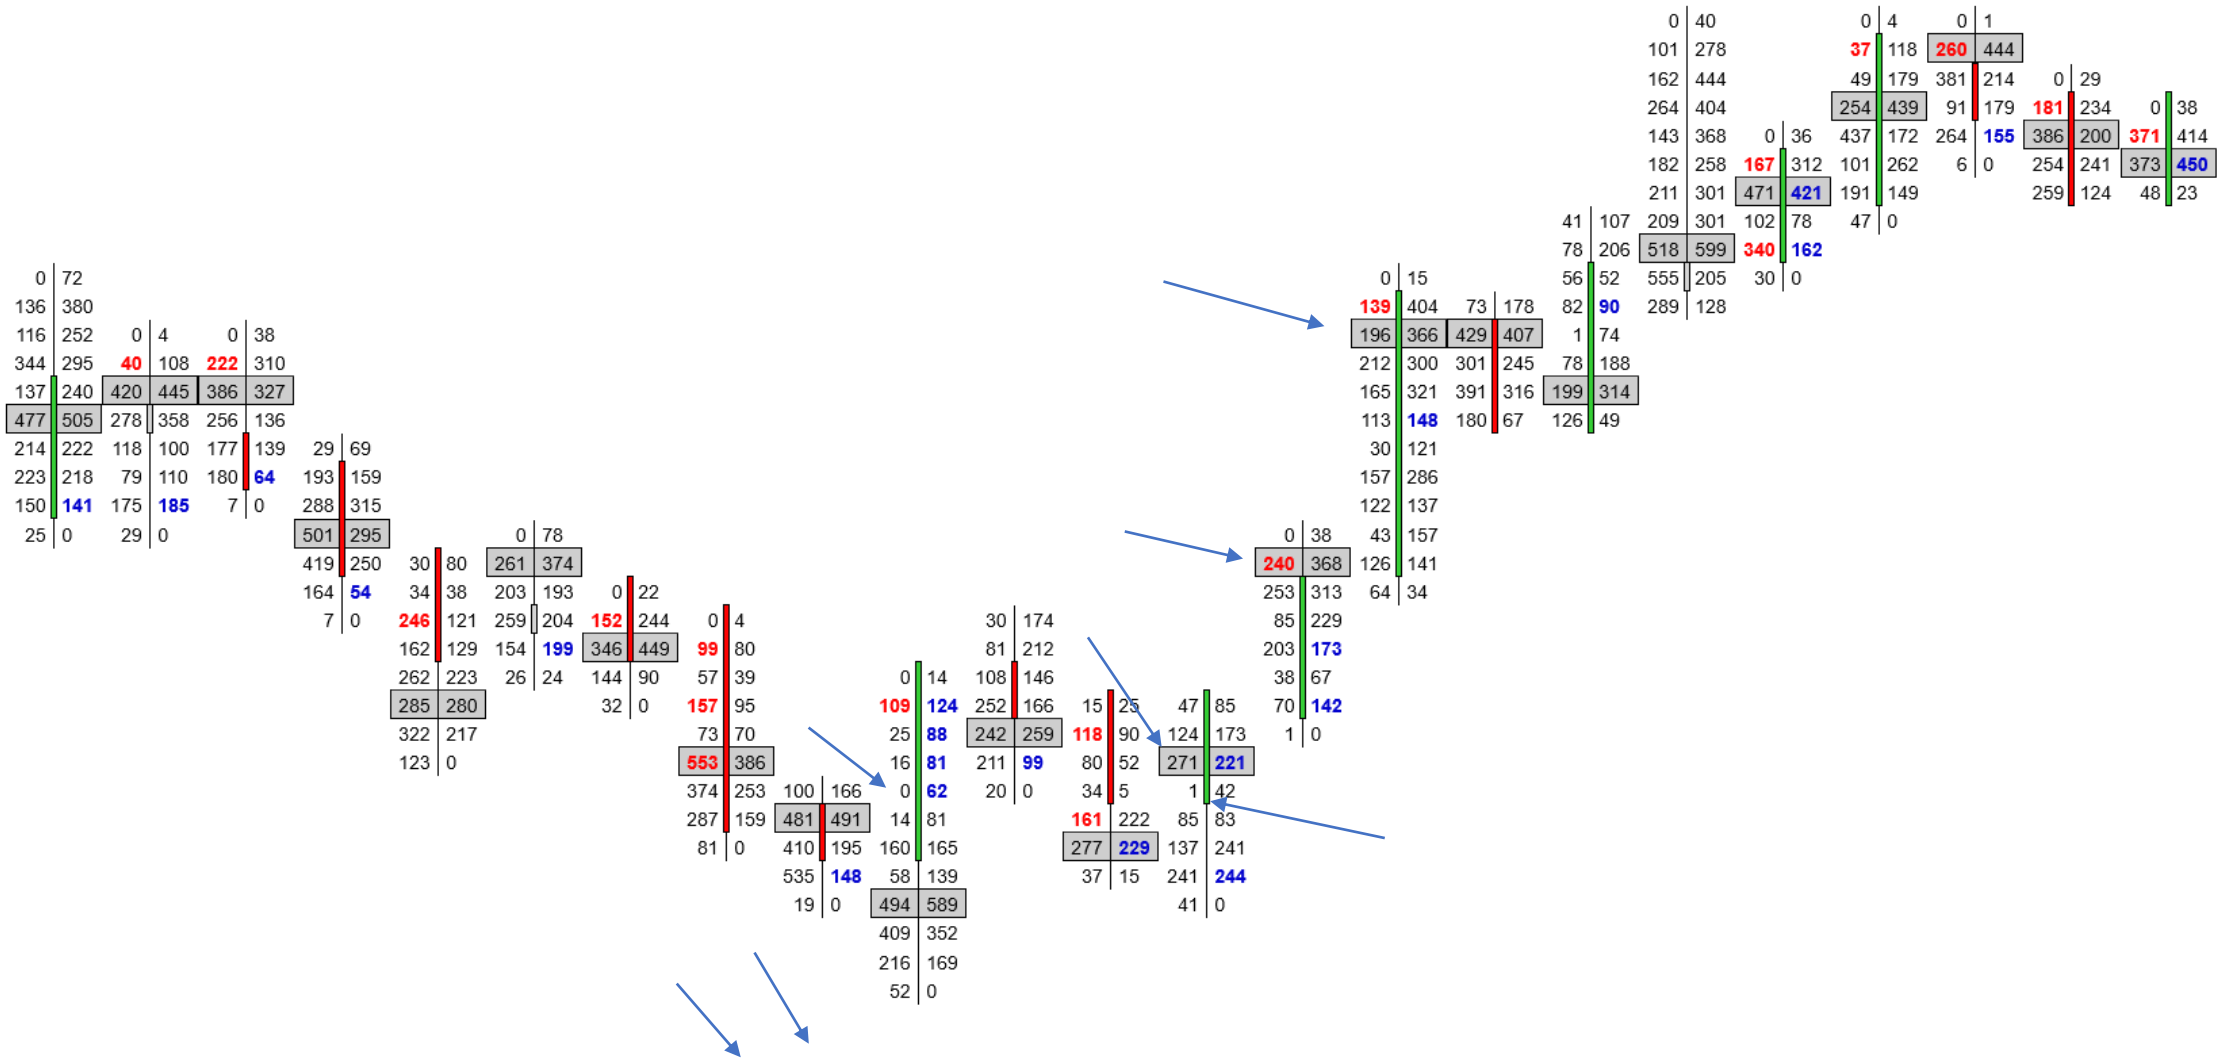

This course is for educational and informational purposes only and should not be considered a solicitation to buy or sell a futures contract or make any other type of investment decision. Futures trading contains substantial risk and is not for every investor. An investor could potentially lose all or more than the initial investment. Risk capital is money that can be lost without jeopardizing ones financial security or life style. Only risk capital should be used for trading and only those with sufficient risk capital should consider trading. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results.

CFTC Rules 4.41 - Hypothetical or Simulated performance results have certain limitations, unlike an actual performance record, simulated results do not represent actual trading. Also, since the trades have not been executed, the results may have under-or-over compensated for the impact, if any, of certain market factors, such as lack of liquidity. Simulated trading programs in general are also subject to the fact that they are designed with the benefit of hindsight. No representation is being made that any account will or is likely to achieve profit or losses similar to those shown.

Reading the story in a footprint chart involves interpreting market dynamics based on factual observations. By analyzing volume, Delta, price changes, and liquidity, traders can form a clear understanding of the market's narrative. This allows for better decision-making and pattern recognition over time.

Plenty of contracts to trade. Take your pick.

As your experience and confidence grow, consider gradually increasing your position size. The goal is to capture smaller movements with larger size, rather than relying on larger moves that may be less frequent. Aim for consistency in your trading approach and steadily scale up your positions while maintaining risk management practices.

This concludes the Strategic Order Flow Trading Course.
